

Writing an Object

Adapted from the Denver Art Museum

The Object Conversations exhibit features 25 objects from the CU Museum's research collection and the stories those objects tell as interpreted by scientists, artists, musicians, writers, and you.

As you wander through the exhibit, choose one object or specimen and write on the following questions...

- If you could name the object, what would you call it?
- If you could talk to it, what question would you ask it?
- If this object could come alive, what would be the next thing that would happen?
- If you were to tell a friend about the object, what would you say?

Draw and label the most interesting part of your object in the space below:

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for drawing and labeling the most interesting part of the chosen object.
